Edinburgh Student Law Review

- The Edinburgh Student Law Review (ESLR) is a peer-reviewed academic journal, with an editorial board comprised of students dedicated to fostering scholarly discourse and advancing legal knowledge within the student community.
- Provides a forum where emerging legal scholars can explore diverse perspectives, challenge existing norms, and address pressing legal concerns.
- Interdisciplinary articles with a strong legal focus.

The Global Crime, Justice and Security Journal

- Contemporary Challenges: The Global Crime, Justice and Security Journal (CCJ) is a student-led journal.
- CCJ was founded in 2020 by students from the MSc in Global Crime, Justice and Security and related programmes
- Students are strongly encouraged to submit their papers and thereby participate in the academic debate at the intersection of crime, justice and security that CCJ provides a platform for.
